Twenty Years of Helping Autistic Voices Emerge

In 1996, a visionary group of parents and their children's special education teacher sat around a kitchen table in Park Ridge and made a bold plan. At a time when there was minimal awareness that autism existed and few resources available, they started Have Dreams, a one-of-a-kind after-school program for children with autism. The "Have" in Have Dreams stands for Helping Autistic Voices Emerge and over the years, we've stayed true to that mission. As the population we serve has increased and grown older, we have expanded our locations, programming, and professional training offerings to meet the ever-changing needs of families seeking resources, programs, and support. Thank you to everyone who has gathered at our Have Dreams "table" over the years, whether as a participant, parent, grandparent, sibling, friend, staff member, board member, or volunteer. Take a look below at all the wonderful things that we have done together these past 20 years to Help Autistic Voices Emerge.

GIVING OPPORTUNITIES

Each day, we don't give much thought to the opportunities we've been given – the job that brings us a paycheck, our social network of friends, co-workers and family, or our good fortune for the many opportunities our children enjoy through school, friendships, and employment.

For 20 years Have Dreams has been committed to providing opportunities that otherwise may not be available to individuals with autism. Today, through a combination of after-school social skills classes, workforce training, and adult life skills programs, we are providing lifespan programs to children, teens, and adults with autism to help them realize and fulfill their true potential.

In this issue featuring our 20 year retrospective cover, you'll learn about our new Lifetime Trustees, Gil Fergus and Peggy Gilger, our Night of Dreams Gala Dinner Committee and Sponsors, and our Career Launch program, along with the many foundations and corporations such as Astellas and Cambridge that have helped Have Dreams give these transformative opportunities to individuals with autism.

As we reflect on our 20th anniversary, Have Dreams takes nothing for granted. We salute you, our loyal donor community who have also helped give these life-changing opportunities through your generous support. To paraphrase Winston Churchill's famous words, you "make a life by what you give."

Thank you for helping Have Dreams give opportunities that bring friendship and acceptance, skills, jobs, and meaningful day-to-day living to those we serve in the community.

Project SEARCH: Eight More Graduates and a 90% Job Placement Rate

What qualities do you look for in a valuable employee? Hard working? Quick learner? Smart? Independent? Reliable? These are just a few of the words that Northwestern University staff used to describe the work qualities of interns in the Project SEARCH Collaborates for Autism at Northwestern University program. In June, eight students from New Trier High School, Glenbrook High Schools, and Deerfield/Highland Park High Schools graduated from Project SEARCH, a one-year transition to employment program for students with autism in their last year of high school or after.

Northwestern University President Morton Schapiro speaking at the Project SEARCH graduation

Family members, Project SEARCH staff, Northwestern faculty and staff, and representatives from Have Dreams, local high schools and service agencies, attended the graduation ceremony at the Block Museum of Art on Northwestern's campus. Northwestern's President Morton Schapiro gave congratulatory remarks and spoke about the values of Northwestern University and Project SEARCH: "...those are the values of Northwestern University... being humble, being thankful and working hard with your head up and not thinking about what might have been but embracing what is, and that's exactly what this program does so brilliantly."

Project SEARCH students learn skills critical to success in the workplace and take part in three, 10-week internships within various departments at Northwestern to expose them to a variety of career options. The goal of the program is to foster independence and self-esteem to help students gain meaningful, competitive employment. Going into its fourth year, Project SEARCH has a 90% job placement rate for graduates at businesses such as Hart Schaffner Marx, Mariano's, Wilmette Tennis Club, and Northwestern University. The program is collectively funded and operated by Have Dreams, Northwestern University, New York Collaborates for Autism/Project SEARCH, the Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity, and local school districts.

New Program for High School Students with Autism Career Launch: Your First Job

Career Launch interns learning how to work the cash register at Have Dreams' Walgreens Retail Training Center in Evanston

Three years ago, a unique set of doors opened up new opportunities for young adults with autism. The Walgreens Retail Training Center, a micro-Walgreens inside the Have Dreams Evanston location, opened its doors for training young adults with autism how to set up displays, work the cash register, stock and organize shelves, and other critical retail skills.

The training center has been key to helping Have Dreams establish new job training programs, including Have Dreams Academy, which has a 93% placement rate in competitive employment. This year, Have Dreams began Career Launch: Your First Job to offer high school students with autism a simulated work experience to bridge the gap between high school and "first time" employment by providing hands-on experience, job coaching, and critical social and communication skills instruction. Career Launch, which is part of our after-school SCILS program, extends Have Dreams' vocational offerings, providing high school students with the advantage of early work training that is a better predictor of employment for young adults with autism. For enrollment or more information, contact Sara LaMontagne at slamontagne@havedreams.org.

Giving Opportunities: Partnering with Area Businesses

Have Dreams Academy Visits Tauber Manufacturing

On August 1, 2016, Have Dreams Academy interns visited Tauber Brothers Tool & Stamping Company in Harwood Heights, Illinois, where they learned about the company's history, the manufacturing process, and about employment in a metal stamping business. Company President Joe Tauber presented detailed information about the industry and answered specific questions. He then provided a tour of the production area to observe how technology plays a major role in manufacturing, and to see firsthand some of the demands of this type of business environment.

Worksite tours and practice interview opportunities, such as this visit to Tauber Brothers Tool & Stamping Company, allow Have Dreams Academy interns to explore career paths, learn about entry-level positions at the host businesses, and build confidence in their interview skills. This summer, interns participated in worksite visits and practice interviews at Ward Manufacturing, IRMCO, C.E. Niehoff, and Cantigny Park. Previous sites have included Whole Foods, Starbucks, Astellas, and Trustmark. Have Dreams looks forward to partnering with these and other companies in the future to continue supporting our interns' career development.

Someone You Should Know: Joe & Cindy Tauber

Joe and Cindy Tauber have been longtime friends and supporters of Have Dreams. Cindy is a former employee who helped organize many Have Dreams events over the years, including the first Golf Classic in 2006.

Recently, Joe hosted Have Dreams Academy interns at his company, Tauber Brothers Tool & Stamping in Harwood Heights. "I enjoyed meeting all the young men and was so impressed by their enthusiasm and perceptive questions about manufacturing," said Joe.

Thank you Joe and Cindy for all you do for Have Dreams!

Life SCILS Goes to Work with Jameson Sotheby's International Realty

About a year ago, Ashley Cox of Evanston's Jameson Sotheby's International Realty reached out to Have Dreams, asking if the young adult interns in our Life SCILS program could help with the company's mailings. Little did anyone know that this would become the longest and most consistent in-house work for Have Dreams' interns.

Twice a month Ashley and her team, The Mack Team (Jackie Mack and Olivia Correa), bring their office mailings to Have Dreams. Our Life SCILS participants are responsible for packaging and assembling this multi-step job. Projects of this nature are important, because they allow each intern to learn new skills regardless of ability level. Two interns are now applying these skills at an off-site internship in an office setting. We're grateful to Ashley and her team for providing our participants with this meaningful work.

For more information on how Have Dreams can partner with your business, contact Andrea Franckowiak at ajohnsen@havedreams.org.

FUNDRAISERS

#OpportunitiesToDream on #GivingTuesday, November 29th!

Last year, Have Dreams participated for the second consecutive year in #GivingTuesday with the campaign #BeDreamMakersForAutism. #GivingTuesday is an annual worldwide day to give to charity, following the traditional days of spending on Black Friday and Cyber Monday.

On December 2, 2015, supporters were asked to make an online donation to Have Dreams for #GivingTuesday. In just 24 hours, Have Dreams raised over $39,000, which included dollars that were matched 100 percent by The Coleman Foundation. Thank you to everyone who donated last year for #GivingTuesday; your donations went a long way to help fund Have Dreams programs for children, teens, and young adults with autism.

This year, Have Dreams will once again participate in #GivingTuesday, with the theme #OpportunitiesToDream on November 29. Mark your calendar and help us make this year even more successful! For more information and to pledge your support this year, see www.havedreams.org/giving-tuesday.

Gil Fergus & Peggy Gilger Become Life Trustees

On June 8, 2016, Gil Fergus and Peggy Gilger became Have Dreams Life Trustees at a celebration at Have Dreams' Park Ridge location. Both Gil and Peggy are founding members of Have Dreams and have children that participated in Have Dreams' first social skills class that launched the organization. Gil and Peggy join Dick Malone as Have Dreams Life Trustees.

Gil, Special Consumer Counsel, Office of the Attorney General, served on the Have Dreams Board of Directors continuously from 1996 to 2003. Gil reflected on the founding of Have Dreams in our 2016 Gala video: "We had a need, there was a void...there was nothing for the children to do after school. We [the original families] got together, sitting around a kitchen table and came up with starting an organization to help fill that void for providing services for the kids."

Peggy, a School Nurse at Mark Twain School in Niles, Illinois, started as a board member in 1996 and has remained on the board for two decades. "I love Have Dreams...just when I think I may step down from the board, something pulls me back in. I feel so indebted to Have Dreams for helping to make Liam [her son] the amazing guy he is today."

A lot has changed in the 20 years since Gil and Peggy began their service with Have Dreams, but the board's focus remains the same as it continues to ensure needed services are available to individuals with autism through Have Dreams. Thank you to Gil and Peggy for their enduring commitment to the mission of Have Dreams.

FOUNDATION, CORPORATE AND COMMUNITY SUPPORTERS

Astellas USA Foundation Garden at Have Dreams

Thanks to a $20,000 grant for a "Garden of Goodness Healthful Harvest Initiative" awarded to Have Dreams from Astellas USA Foundation, our participants have been cultivating the outdoor vegetable and herb garden located in the front of our Evanston location. This initiative will help participants increase their healthy eating habits by learning how to maintain and harvest the garden, prepare vegetables and herbs they grow themselves, and incorporate these and other healthy foods into their daily diet. In June, Nature's Perspective Landscaping in Evanston installed the garden, garden beds, and trellises. Within a month, fresh tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, basil, and kale began growing. Our Life SCILs participants have been harvesting the vegetables and herbs and using these fresh ingredients to prepare their lunchtime meals on Fridays. Pumpkins and squash have also been planted for the fall.

Support from Astellas USA Foundation, who also funded Have Dreams' 2015 Healthy Eating Initiative, has provided opportunities for Have Dreams parents and caregivers to meet with Feeding Specialist Alyson Teitel (pictured right in the far right photo above). Alyson shared tips on how to cook healthy and appealing dishes at home and how to help introduce new and healthy foods.

Thank you to our friends at Nature's Perspective Landscaping for working with us on this project and Astellas USA Foundation for their generous support to realize our "Garden of Goodness Healthful Harvest Initiative."
